Hear it from those who live,
work and learn here ...

Public education at its best requires hard work and excellence from its students ... and the students love it anyway. That's what my children receive in Enid Public Schools.

— Susan Shewey, PTA President & Mother of 3

The children of today will be the leaders and workforce of tomorrow. In order to meet the challenges of the future, we must continue our commitment to have a strong public education system that includes rigorous academic standards and has a high regard for development and retention of quality educators.

— Brian Hayden, HR Professional & Business Leader

The close working relationship between the staff and the administration allows us to provide the most productive educational environment for our students. In Enid, the best teachers have the opportunity to serve the greatest community.

— Sherri Hendrie, Teacher & EEA President

EPS prepared me for college more than I could have imagined. My teachers helped me develop research and study skills that most of my peers in college do not have. I believe that EPS offers the most well-rounded schools in Oklahoma.

— Jamie Hughes, EHS Graduate & OU Freshman

Our District

Enid Public Schools is a student-centered district that consists of one high school, three junior high schools and ten elementary schools, which are commonly referred to as "neighborhood" schools. The district also has an alternative school, as well as an adult education center.

EPS offers students a rigorous, college-bound curriculum with personalized instruction designed to meet the needs of all students. The district provides enrichment/gifted education opportunities at all levels, including more than a dozen AP classes and concurrent enrollment options at EHS. EPS also provides a comprehensive special education program with a staff that includes two national award winners. For its youngest students, EPS offers developmentally appropriate pre-kindergarten to second-grade classes, with a full-time early childhood consultant on staff.

The district's test scores continue to exceed state and national averages, and EHS graduates consistently fare better than their peers during the first year of college. EHS graduates often are recognized through the National Merit Scholarship Program and military academy appointments.

The heart of the district is its highly qualified teaching staff. The district's personnel department follows a strategic, research-based process to find the most valuable candidate for each available position. The backbone of the district is its support staff, whose members are essential to the daily mission of the system.

EPS believes in educating the whole child. The health services staff includes two Nationally Board Certified school nurses. The district also works collaboratively with local social service agencies to provide students and their families with any assistance they may need.

The district is in the process of a long-range facility improvement plan. In 2003, voters approved more than $27 million for facility, technology and bus improvements, including a new classroom addition and food court at EHS, four new elementary additions and renovations at each site.

EPS students benefit from tremendous community support. Residents contribute more than 20,000 volunteer hours annually, and the EPS Foundation donates $30,000 to classrooms each year.

Our Community

Located in the heart of Northwest Oklahoma, Enid is home to more than 47,000 people, as well as Vance Air Force Base. In 2006, Good Morning America recognized Enid as one of the five "Up and Coming" areas of the country.

Enid offers its residents a wealth of opportunities for recreation and adventure. Arts enthusiasts can enjoy performances by the Enid Symphony Orchestra and Gaslight Theatre, while sports lovers will want to catch a baseball game at the national-caliber David Allen Memorial Ballpark in historic downtown. Enid is also home to five museums, including a world-class children's facility.

Enid's business community also continues to grow, and Expansion Management Magazine recently named the community one of the top 20 small metro communities nationwide for business recruitment. The largest employers include: Vance AFB, Advance Food Company and EPS.

Enid is also proud to have Autry Technology Center and branches of Northwestern Oklahoma State University and Northern Oklahoma College. Enid is the hub of healthcare for Northwest Oklahoma, with two outstanding facilities: St. Mary's Regional Medical Center and Integris Bass Baptist Health Center.
